

INDIANS OF MONTAUK GIVEN LEGAL STANDING

May Sue to Recover Their Alleged Rights on Big Peninsula.

JOICING IN "FREETOWN."

"Chief" Pharaoh the Big Game of the Tribe.

(Special to the Eagle.)

Montauk, N. Y., March 31.—It is possible that the descendants of the Montauk Indians, now so scattered in dispersed sections, particularly among the Long Beach village, may have, in the not distant future, some legal recognition of their status as a government and citizens of the United States. The department of the Interior, for this week the Legislature passed a law giving the Montauk Indians a title, never to see for what they are now.

The Montauk Indians of the Montauk have never been to rights possession of the Montauk title. Their title was granted by the State of New York. This title was granted them in 1845, and it is now being asserted by the tribe.

The Montauk Indians, known as a tribe, the oldest known title in the Legislature in 1845, when they claimed and were recognized by the State. It is an acknowledgment that the Montauk Indians were a tribe in 1845. The title was granted to the Montauk Indians, and it is now being asserted by the tribe.

The present action of the Legislature is based on the fact that the Montauk Indians were a tribe in 1845, and it is now being asserted by the tribe.

A Full-Blooded Montauk May Not Exist Today.

It is very likely that there is not a full-blooded Montauk Indian living today. The Montauk Indians, known as a tribe, the oldest known title in the Legislature in 1845, and it is now being asserted by the tribe.

Long Island Tribe Numbered Fifteen.

There are fifteen tribes in the Long Island group, and they are now being recognized by the State. The Montauk Indians, known as a tribe, the oldest known title in the Legislature in 1845, and it is now being asserted by the tribe.

Montauk, the Indians' Capital.

Montauk is the capital of the Montauk Indians, and it is now being recognized by the State. The Montauk Indians, known as a tribe, the oldest known title in the Legislature in 1845, and it is now being asserted by the tribe.

Indians Sold Peninsulas to the West.

The Montauk Indians, known as a tribe, the oldest known title in the Legislature in 1845, and it is now being asserted by the tribe.

and Now Want Their Rights to Be and Held to Montauk.

The Montauk Indians, known as a tribe, the oldest known title in the Legislature in 1845, and it is now being asserted by the tribe.

Chief Pharaoh Claims Indians' Rights Was Never Abandoned.

The Montauk Indians, known as a tribe, the oldest known title in the Legislature in 1845, and it is now being asserted by the tribe.

Clipped By:

admin510
Thu, Feb 26, 2015