

SUING FOR MONTAUK POINT.

Montauk Indians Trying to Wrest It from the Railroad Company.

PACHOGUE, L. I., June 19.—Supreme Court Justice Wilmot W. Smith gave a hearing to-day on the demurrer put in by the Long Island Railroad in the suit of the Montauk Indians against the railroad to recover the peninsula of Montauk. The land consists of 6,000 acres and is now very valuable.

The suit is being watched by representatives of other tribes of Indians of various parts of Long Island, who expect to bring suit to recover possession of property claimed by them and now held by corporations if the Indians win the present suit.
